

Building Heritage | Forbes Global Properties

Building Heritage | Forbes Global Properties is a premier luxury real estate agency based in Florence, Tuscany, with a distinguished legacy dating back to its establishment in 1998. Founded by Cinzia Romanelli, the company has built an outstanding reputation for its expertise in high-end residential and commercial properties, offering an exclusive portfolio of some of Italy's most remarkable estates, historic villas, and investment properties.

As a proud member of Forbes Global Properties, Building Heritage provides clients with privileged access to an international network of high-net-worth individuals and elite real estate opportunities. Specializing in real estate brokerage (65%), property rentals (10%), marketing (15%), consulting (5%), and legal advisory services (5%), the firm ensures seamless transactions and tailored investment solutions for discerning buyers and investors.

Building Heritage is dedicated to delivering a bespoke client experience, combining traditional expertise with cutting-edge innovation. The company integrates augmented reality and virtual tours to offer immersive property viewings, allowing clients to explore prospective investments remotely. Moreover, the agency places a strong emphasis on sustainability, actively engaging in eco-conscious initiatives, including the Art for Climate event in Porto Cervo.

Renowned for its market excellence, Building Heritage has been recognized with prestigious accolades, including the Bellevue Best Property Agents 2024 award and the Premio Angi – Oscar dell'Innovazione. With a commitment to excellence, discretion, and innovation, Building Heritage | Forbes Global Properties continues to redefine luxury real estate, offering an exceptional level of service tailored to the unique needs of its clientele.
